OSHA - All employers have the responsibility to provide a safe workplace with no serious hazards, that conforms to all federal Office of Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) safety and health standards. OSHA further requires that employers must try to eliminate or reduce hazards by assuring the work conditions do not just rely on masks, gloves, or other types of personal protective equipment. All dental office teams are required to participate in annual training to remain in compliance with the OSHA standards. Are you and your staff current with the standards?

HIPAA - The federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) established national standards to protect individuals' medical records and other personal health information. One provision of HIPAA requires businesses use safeguards to protect the privacy of personal health information, and sets limits and conditions on maintaining confidentiality of patients' records. Is your office compliant?
